

How can I do my own Part D plan review?

Medicare.gov offers an online tool for evaluating prescription plans. On their website, you can either create a new account or log in to an existing one. If you log in, medicare.gov will save your drug list and preferred pharmacy for future years. If you choose not to create an account or if you are creating an account for the first time, you will need to manually enter your medications. The website will guide you through a series of questions and then prompt you to enter or update your medication information. After completing this, you will be presented with several Part D plan options to choose from. To use the online tool, you'll need your Medicare card and a list of your medications, including dosage and frequency.

Why did Everence create a new Part D program?

- Due to the growing demand each year for Part D assistance, we have created a program that will support this high growth in requests for help, while allowing the program to be more streamlined and sustainable.
- The online form will help to make sure no important details of your medication list are missing and will create a faster and smoother review process.
- In response to feedback that the process of mailing one's information and waiting for a call was stressful and sometimes confusing, we are now using an online appointment scheduling feature so you can pick a date and time that works best for you and be prepared for your review.
- The fee being charged this year only partially defrays the expense of providing this service for clients who benefit from this help.
