Financial guidance for newly married or engaged couples

Discussion topics include:

- The many dimensions of money.
- Understanding your relationship with money.
- When spenders and savers marry.
- Creating shared financial goals.

After this workshop, participants will work through personalized assessment tools. Then, each couple will have an opportunity to meet with Everence consultants to discuss what they have learned and explore ways to work together to meet their financial goals.

Do not avoid the money talk; understand the style to interact confidently and generously in ways that work best for both of you.
